

Task for Blackrock

Task 1: Predictions

Task: Having now learned about the real-life events that inspired his play, predict Enright’s purpose in writing Blackrock and the potential audience response. Considering the context of production and potential audience, explain what you think Enright might be trying to achieve with this play. Explain how you think you might respond to this play and its subject matter. For Unit 2, extend this discussion to consider why Enright might have turned this into a feature film.

	A	B	C	D	E
Consider how texts are produced in and for particular contexts	Evaluates relationship between text and context of production and reception <input type="checkbox"/>	Analyses how context may influence reception of a text <input type="checkbox"/>	Explains some aspects of how context may influence reception of a text <input type="checkbox"/>	Describes potential response of audience and makes links to context <input type="checkbox"/>	Identifies some aspects of possible audience response and some aspects of context <input type="checkbox"/>
Consider the choice of mode and medium in shaping the response of audiences	Evaluates likely audience responses to versions of the text in different media <input type="checkbox"/>	Compares the likely responses of audiences to versions of the text in different media <input type="checkbox"/>	Explains likely response to aspects of versions of the text in different media <input type="checkbox"/>	Describes likely response to the medium of one version of the text <input type="checkbox"/>	Identifies some aspects of audience response and attempts to link to medium <input type="checkbox"/>
Consider how your own response is shaped by the purpose of a text	Evaluates personal response to text in light of predicted purposes <input type="checkbox"/>	Analyses personal response to text in light of predicted purposes <input type="checkbox"/>	Explains personal response in light of predicted purpose <input type="checkbox"/>	Describes personal response and makes some links to predicted purpose <input type="checkbox"/>	Identifies some aspects of personal response and attempts to link to predicted purpose <input type="checkbox"/>
Consider the impact of your personal, social and cultural context upon your response to a text	Evaluates impact of own contexts upon predicted response to the text <input type="checkbox"/>	Analyses impact of own context(s) upon predicted response to the text <input type="checkbox"/>	Explains impact of aspects of own context upon predicted response to the text <input type="checkbox"/>	Describes own context and makes some link to predicted response to the text <input type="checkbox"/>	Identifies some aspects of own context and attempts to link these to predicted response <input type="checkbox"/>

Comments: