Task for The Rabbits

Personal reflection on *The Rabbits

Before reading The Rabbits you had some knowledge about the events and themes that the text would explore. After analysing the front cover, you would also have formed some ideas about what to expect when reading the book.

Take a minute to think back to what you thought before reading The Rabbits. Complete the statement below and then explain your prior knowledge and expectations before reading the text.

I used to think...

___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________
___________________________________________________________________________

Task for The Rabbits © AATE 2020
Now think about how your ideas, expectations and knowledge changed after reading The Rabbits. Did these challenge your expectations of a picture book? Again, in a few sentences, explain what you now think.

But now I think...